CLS Gives "Holiday" Feb. 25 in Theatre

February twenty-fifth is the date that has been set by the Columbian Literary Society for the presentation of Alberto Casella's "Death Takes a Holiday."

Advance preparations indicate that the play will afford St. Joe's great opportunity for advancement in the dramatic field. The usual production methods have been altered, and the plans now resemble those used by the "big" shows.

The Rev. Paul F. Speckbaugh, C. PP. S., director of the play, said that three try-outs had been given to select the cast in order that it could be certain that the selected student would be best fitted for the part for which he was chosen.

The cast met Tuesday night to read the play and discuss its production. Plans have been made to start rehearsals immediately.

Members of the C. Y. O. unit of St. Augustine's parish, Rensselaer, will be cast in the feminine parts, it has been anounced.

The cast has now been completed. Here are the names of the CYO girls and their roles:

Grazia.....Pauline Tonner
Alda.....Joan Wood
Duchess Stephanie....Josephine Zimmer
Princess of San Luca.....Ruth Kanney
Rhoda Fenton.....Avalyn Lane

Athletic Offices To Move; Raleigh Club Will Expand

With the doors in, and the office floors almost dry, Coach Joe Dienhart and his staff expect to move their belongings to the new fieldhouse offices by the first of February.

Even though there is a possibility that the basketball floor won't be ready for use this season, the offices will be moved as planned.

When the athletic equipment is removed from the AA store directly below the Raleigh Clubrooms, the store will be converted into a pool room. Since the club has grown lately, and the present reading room facilities are crowded, this new addition will give Raleigh members more accomodation.

Brother Leo Retires

Brother Leo Ehrlenspiel, C.PP.S., former tailor on the college staff, has retired from active duty. He left the campus yesterday afternoon for Burketsville, Ohio, where he will be stationed. Brother Leo worked as a tailor for approximately fifty years.

SCIENCE COURSE NEW TO LIBERAL ARTS STUDENTS

Machine Accounting Course Is Offered As Jr.-Sr. Subject

With the start of the second semester a new subject is making its debut in the courses at St. Joseph's. Primarily for the Liberal Arts and Pre-Philosophy students, this course of Orientation in Science is to give the students of the classical arts a glimpse into tht field of science.

This semester four hours per-week will be devoted to the study of Physics and Chemistry. Lecture demonstration periods will be conducted by the Reverend Boniface R. Dreiling in Physics, and the Reverend Albert A. Wuest in the science of Chemistry.

Although four credit hours will be counted toward graduation, they will not be accepted toward a major or minor. Next year the course will be continued in the teaching of Biology or Geology.

A new course, Machine Accounting, will be offered this semester for the benefit of the senior and junior accounting students. It will be a two-hour laboratory course to be held in the room previously occupied by the Commerce Library. A small fee will be charged.

Two Monroe calculators and one adding machine have been provided by the college. More equipment will be added as the need for it arises.

The introduction of this modern accounting aid is due greatly to the efforts of the Rev. A. Gordon, C. PP. S., Commerce Club moderator.

Noll Hall Completed

Removal of the contractor's tool shed from its place of prominence near the entrance of Noll Hall erases all doubt as to completion of the new residence hall.

Opera Program Lauds College Over Networks

Collegeville hit the air waves last Saturday afternoon, Jan. 25, on the world-wide N. B. C. hookup of the Metropolitan Opera broadcast in New York City.

The occasion was the weekly Opera Question Forum held between acts of the opera "Madame Butterfly." A group of noted opera singers, music critics and other famous people of the music world answer questions sent in by the radio listeners of opera. Bruna Castagna, famous Italian contralto, answered a question sent in by Leonard Burghart of Xavier Hall.

Before he read the question, Milton Cross, opera radio commentator praised the St. Joseph students who showed such enthusiastic interest in opera by the many questions sent in. About sixty-seven questions were sent in by the Community students of Xavier Hall three weeks ago. To the one whose question is asked, the Texas Co., sponsors of the opera broadcasts, sends an album of operatic records.

Valentine Dance Set for Feb. 25

Bill Kozielski issued a final call today for new Raleigh Club members, while the dance committee announced Feb. 15 as the date for the annual Valentine Ball.

Since the Ball is a closed affair, only members of the Raleigh Club will be permitted to attend.

If you are planning to join the club, do so now and be eligible to attend the Valentine dance. Late town permission of 1:30 will be extended all members who attend the dance.

HONOR BIRTHDAY OF FDR ON HIGH SCHOOL STAGE

Interesting Program Released, Promises Worth-while Evening

Rensselaer and Collegeville will celebrate President Roosevelt's Birthday tomorrow night at 8:00 with a musical program in the Rensselaer High School Auditorium.

Judge Leopold organized this party with the aid of the Rev. Harold Diller, C. PP. S., who will direct the St. Joe Glee Club and choir, and of Maurice F. Shadley, who will conduct the Rensselaer High School Band.

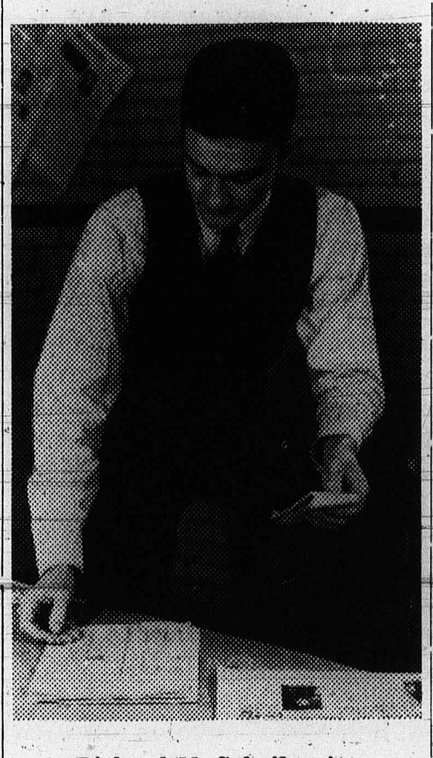
Scheiber Helped Launch STUFF



Richard M. Scheiber '41

By G. R. SCHREIBER

At 10:30 on the morning of Sept. 13, 1937, a sedan rolled through the gates and onto the campus of St. Joseph's. At the wheel of that car sat the prospective Freshman who was to make this paper what it is today.

At that time, Dick Scheiber didn't know what the future held. He only knew that a few weeks before, while already enrolled as a student in Tiffin (Ohio) business school, he met a priest named Father Roof. Hearing of St. Joseph's college changed his entire outlook on life, and Dick decided to enroll as a liberal arts student.

A few weeks after his arrival on the campus, he strode up to Father Ley's room with some new ideas for the brand new campus sheet, STUFF. His ideas were good, and it wasn't long before Dick Scheiber won a permanent place on the paper. In November of '37 he started his Flicker Column, which continues to this day as an editorial feature. Dick's previous newspaper experience included a writing urge that started when he was six years old and picked out characters on the typewriter. He passed papers for the Toledo Blade, and was managing editor of the Calvert High School News in his home town, Tiffin.

His previous ventures in other businesses up to that time included clerking in a clothing store, being assistant manager of a theatre, surveyor's assistant for the city engineer. He has also been employed for three summers by the Tiffin Mfg. Co. He plans to return to this latter concern on graduation.

In September, 1938, he was appointed editor of STUFF and held that position until last week, when other duties forced him to relinquish the post. Foremost among these duties is the writing of a novelette.

During his tenure as editor, he contributed some 50 articles to

The DRIFT (Editorial)

Of particular interest to students in the Liberal Arts department should be the addition of an Orientation in Science course. The new course is outlined in a broader sense elsewhere in this edition, so our comment will be limited strictly to its great advantages. The new three-semester subject will embrace a survey of many of the pure sciences, including chemistry, physics, and biology.

The main purpose of the liberal arts eduation is to obtain a broader scope of knowledge in all fields. Formerly, as in other schools, St. Joe's liberal arts students were burdened with the more technical study of one particular science. From henceforth they will find a new wealth of general scientific knowledge open for their absorption.

In a world full of specialists and specialization, liberal, broad education is too often passed over. Men who have a varied knowledge are few and far between. Those who are specialists in one field are under the shadow of an intellectual isolation. For that reason alone, the value of this new Science course can not be stressed too strongly.

No one likes to point an accusing finger triumphantly, and say "We told you so." STUFF never likes to point the accusing finger, nor do we sanction those continual pointers who seemingly lack the energy or initiative to do anything else. That unfortunate accident of two weeks ago was only the result, however, of a long series of fears. Because of that accident, we would like to depart from our accustomary position, and point an accusing finger.

Just why a warning should go so long unheard is one of those inexplainable mysteries of human nature. This warning against walking on the highway was given repeatedly, and an editorial appeared here concerning the problem. State law demands that pedestrians walk facing the oncoming traffic, and stay well off the road. For all the warning, for all the law, there were violators. One of the violators finally felt the teeth of consequence.

While we feel sorry for the victim and add our wishes for his speedy recovery, we cannot help but know the needlessness of the accident. Perhaps the example may serve what words never accomplished, for most students are now keeping well off the pavement and on the correct side. This editorial is a reminder: If you must ignore the sidewalk, always walk toward the approaching traffic, and that accident will never be repeated.

Student Forum Question Gains Impetus On Campus

By John O'Grady

Within every student there lies a burning desire to express his opinions on important topics of the day. The famous college bull sessions give some of the students an opportunity to talk things over, but wouldn't a student forum be a still better place for such discussions? Such a forum would be a better place to air these things out, and at the same time it would be a great benefit to the entire student body. STUFF this week goes to the students to find their opinions on a student forum.

Jame McNaughton, sixth-year religious student from Saginaw, Michigan—"I think such a forum would give the students a splendid opportunity to express themselves on important affairs. It would provide a good opportunity to discuss the problems the secular Catholic youth will face after he has completed his college career."

Bill Browning, sophomore from Evansville, Ind.—"It would be a very appropriate undertaking. Such a forum would provide ample opportunity for many members of the student body to expound their pent-up emotions and ideas to a group rather than to a few."

"It is a good idea," were Ray Grevencamp's first words regarding it. Ray went on to say that, "It would enable the students to find out more clearly the opinions of others, thus giving all interested students a chance to broaden their intellectual background."

Jim Taylor, originator of the campus swing band who hails from Evansville, Ind.—"It would be an asset to the school. In such a forum the students could express their ideas on events that will have an important bearing on what lies in store for us in the future."

Salvatore Squicquero, sixth-year religious student from Ellwood City, Pa.—"A student forum is one thing every college should have. It would keep the fellows more informed on important affairs."

Luke Daniels, sophomore premedic from Tiffin, Ohio—"Any activity which the students run, under correct supervision, will aid them to get along better in later life. A properly conducted forum will give the student something he can't get in any other activity."

John Schlereth, sophomore from Tiffin, Ohio—"It would give the school a much more cosmopolitan air. It would provide a much needed laboratory where theory and actuality could be measured and studied."

Before Our Time

By Bob Wendeln

"Gay Ninety" methods of refrigeration have definitely been overshadowed by the modern. Yet, in the minds of the early grads of St. Joseph's the memory of cutting ice in the winter and storing it for use during the summer is still bright.

In the winter months the lake was the scene of bustling activity. The ice house had to be filled, and the pleasure of skating was given over to cutting the ice on the lake. Armed with saws and iron-pointed poles, the students devested the lake of its frigid covering.

The Rev. Rupert Landoll, C.PP.S., planned the device by which the cut blocks of ice were elevated from the lake to the platform built on the west side. Horses and wagons then carried the ice to the ice house, which was situated just west of the east end of the present Administration building.

Later on a new ice house was built. It stands today near the college dairy barns west of the campus. At the present it is the spacious quarters of "Ferdinand," the bull.

During the summer, twice a week, a load of ice had to be hauled from the ice house to the kitchen. Those who did it were considered very fortunate. The nuns always had a tasty lunch ready to appease the appetite acquired by this rather strenuous task.

Valpo Here Friday; Xavier Next

Puma Prints

By Don Casey

With the Central Normal game out of the way, and with the Valpo tussle lingering in the immediate future, the Puma cage season is rapidly coming to a climax. The present record is better than a .500 average with 8 wins and 4 defeats. Of the remaining nine games to be played, four are Conference tilts. Those Conference affairs seem mild when compared with the other five games on the schedule. So far, Xavier U.'s Muskies have dropped only one, that to Ohio State; John Carroll has a small outfit, but plenty of scoring punch; of the eastern tour we can say naught, but hope. Seton Hall is probably the toughest of the three; St. Francis has proved their prowess in their Garden encounters; and St. Joe of Pa. will probably offer plenty of competition (but not quite enough.)

Butler, Evansville, and St. Joe stand equal chances of eliminating themselves from Conference championship possibilities. A single loss will do the trick. This is because the teams have only six conference games scheduled.

Jack Miller is confident of the Puma pugs' possibilities in that coming bout with Valpo, next week. The coach has not decided on who the eight chosen ones will be, but hopes to be able to do so within the next few days.

A recent sports story in the Xavier University News read to the effect that Joe Dienhart, having lost most of his last year's regulars through graduation, would have to rely upon such unexperienced material as Nick Pfeffer, Maurie Gutgsell, and Bernie Hoffman. (My, my!)

Popular interest in the Field House has increased about 300% since the structure finally took on the appearance of more than a mere building. With increased interest came a barrage of questions as to the facilities, etc. Joe Dienhart cleared up one of the common queries by informing yours truly that there will be a seating capacity of 1400. A full house of 2000 will be possible, and more room will be converted to seats if the crowds increase.

Grid Captain Joe Keane took the honor bestowed upon him by his teammates very modestly and graciously, but to show his appreciation to the team he started talking up next year's possibilities and boosting his boys. "We've got plenty of tough competition lined up for next season," said Joe, "but our fellows are tougher and we are going to go far next season."

U. Of Mexico Falls 69-44; SJC Takes Central Normal

A travel-weary University of Mexico squal fell prey to the St. Joe college sharpshooters, and went down in a 69-41 defeat, before a packed house, Monday night, in the Rensselaer high school gym.

The Pumas started out looking like a million dollars in nickels and dimes. Lack of competition, however, caused them to get ragged around the edges, and by the time the second half got under way it was a case of every man for himself.

Mauri's Gutsgell's performance was head and shoulders above any athlete on the floor. Besides amassing 22 points, he gave a flawless exhibition of floor play.

Rodolfo Diaz, sad-eyed Mexican forward, nosed out Alfonso Hernandez for the visitors' scoring honors. Diaz had 13; Hernandez 11. Captain Humberto Salazar, usually the top scorer, made only six points. Salazar, more than any of the other Jumping Beans, showed that incessant travel and a heavy schedule had taken all the jump out of him.

Neal Mosser fell three points shy of taking over the state scoring leadership. His 13 points gave him a total of 164 for the season. Wilfred Doerner, of Evansville, has 166.

However, Mosser should regain his scoring crown tonight when the Pumas tussle with Central Normal, at Danville, Ind. Evansville is not scheduled to play for several days.

DANVILLE, Ind., Jan. 28.—The St. Joe College Pumas came out on the better end of a 40-37 score in a contest with Central Normal that was up hill and down dale all the way.

Each team, like a gambler's luck, was on and then off, on and then off. The Warriors took their turn first by building up a 10-3 lead over the Pumas. Central Normal then went into blackout and stood on its ten points until the Pumas built up their score to 20.

Mauri Gutgsell poured in five baskets during the first half to help give the visitors what seemed to be a comfortable 28-17 lead. But when Gutgsell was taken from the game with a side injury, the Pumas hit the toboggan. Only a last minute rally saved them from defeat. The scrappy guard drove in hard, showed change of pace, and guarded well to turn in the same outstanding performance that he has shown during the past several games.

The local quintet, led by Harold Olin's 10 points, came from behind in the second half to score 20 points to the visitors' 12. With three minutes to play, Central Normal gained a 37-36 advantage. Bernie Hoffman, a tricky ball stealer, and Urban Pfeffer, a great man on rebounds, connected for St. Joseph's margin of triumph.

Neal Mosser's eight points boosted his season's total to 172, six more than Wilford Doerner, of Evansville, former state scoring leader.

Joliet's Central Takes Cubs, 33-23

Central Catholic, of Joliet, Ill., scored their second victory of the season over the Cubs Monday night, 33-23. A leg injury kept Hank Ewaniec from playing his usual hepped-up game, but Dunn carried on the scoring pace with four swishes and two charity tosses. The parole boys were plenty rugged, but their offensive deception and dead-eye shots ran up a lead which they maintained throughout the game.

St. Paul of O'Dell, Ill., will play a return match with the Cubs Friday night in the preliminary feature of the St. Joe-Valpo game. On Saturday they will travel to South Bend to meet Central Catholic.

Third Conference Game for Pumas; Xavier Is Strong

Two ball games—Valparaiso, here Friday night, and St. Xavier at Cincinnati, Tuesday night—are on the menu for St. Joe's hungry Pumas this week.

In entertaining Valparaiso Friday night the Pumas will be meeting their first conference opponent at home since they swamped Huntington College in the season-opener. Valparaiso is reported to have a fair ball club, having won three and lost two conference games. The game will be of grave importance to Dienhart & Co., for they must win to remain high in the Indiana conference standing. The two teams will meet again at Valparaiso, March 6, in the final game of the season.

St. Xavier appears to be one of the strongest teams to face the St. Joseph five this season. The Musketeers boast of a smooth, high-scoring machine with an average height of over six feet. This height makes the Ohioans extra dangerous under the basket. Xavier's chief scoring threats are Bert Robben and Bill Gates.

Coach Clem Crowe has enjoyed a winning season so far. His team dropped only one game, and that to a powerful Ohio State five. Coaches Crowe and Dienhart were teammates at Notre Dame.

Newman Club Rehearsing For Two One-Act Plays

The Newman Club, Academy dramatic society, will stage two productions in the college theatre on the evening of Lincoln's Birthday, Wednesday, Feb. 12.

These two plays selected by the Rev. Harold V. Diller, C. PP. S., Newman Club Director, are both of a light nature. The first, Gracie, is a comedy in one act written by Bessie Sprenger Breene. The play deals with a rather forceful romance in a college setting.

Hired and Fired, the other play, is a skit by Larry E. Johnson; it concerns the employment of a railroad engineer with a one-track mind—he couldn't think about the romantic part of his job for his mind always wandered to the very realistic phase concerning wages.

Jubilee Committee Plans Celebration

Members of the Golden Jubilee committee on arrangements announced late last week that they are planning to celebrate the Feast of the Patronage of St. Joseph, April 30, with special solemnity.

On the same day, the three new buildings will be blessed. The committee is now planning a special program for this year's commencement exercises.

The V. Rev. Dr. Aloys Dirksen, C. PP. S., heads the committee composed of Fathers Ildephonse Rapp, Joseph Kenkel, Anthony Paluszak, Walter Pax, and publicity director, Edward Fischer.

New Faces Here For Second Half

With the opening of the new semester several new faces can be seen on the campus. Among the newly registered are John Bivenour and Armand Caminati.

John Bivenour is not an altogether new person in the Puma lair. Beefy, as he is better known, attended St. Joe in '39 and '40. Aside from his connection with STUFF and the Glee Club he is well known for his milk shake concoctions.

Armand Caminati is a transfer student from John Carroll University, of Cleveland, Ohio. He is majoring in accounting and is classified as a sophomore.

As yet a complete digest of the enrollment for the second semester is not forthcoming from the office of the registrar.

Commerce Club To Hear McDonough

Mr. Walter McDonough, comptroller of the Northern Indiana Public Service Co. in Hammond, will address the members of the Commerce Club, Feb. 3, in the Alumni Auditorium. The subject of his speech will be utility.

MORE ABOUT

R. M. SCHEIBER

the Rensselaer Republican; has been a regular contributor to Measure, the college literary magazine; has won an award in the Lally Creative Writing Contest; and, more recently, he took first prize in the Worden contest. H is also at work on the history of the college, for the yearbook. While editor, Dick made two trips ('38-'40) to the Catholic School Press Association Conference in Milwaukee.

Member of the Raleigh Club, Poetry Society, Dwenger Mission Unit, and Holy Name society, Dick has served as president of his class for his junior and senior years, as president of the Poetry Society and of the Glee Club.

Scheiber is an ardent swing addict. "Benny Goodman is tops," he avows, "and my favorite piece of raucous music is Goodman's 1 O'clock Jump. My all-time favorite song, though, is Body and Soul." Dick likes Beethoven among the classics.

All of us who have enjoyed working with Dick here know that some day writing will acknowledge his incessant poundings, and he will be awarded the high place he deserves.

The Academy Corner

By Earl Weis

A new music organization, the Academy Band, will make its first appearance, Feb. 6, at the St. Joseph's Academy-Remington basketball game. The band, formed under the direction of James Zaumeyer, has been practicing quietly (if that's possible for a band) already now for several weeks. Their repertoire now includes all of the St. Joseph's songs and many others.

Exams are past, but the worst is yet to come in the form of reports. A general all-round letdown commences from the biggest senior, who, with this exam, cuts the seventh notch on his pencil, to the lowest freshman, who whittles his first.

It seems that. the tests over, even the atmosphere had a letdown—it snowed Sunday. There goes the skating for a couple of days. at least.

Several students, taking advantage of a free day, Monday, went home for brief visits. Those who did not, enjoyed a real vacation, minus study periods and classes, right here. Some think that there's nothing like going to school when you don't have to study.

Quick glances: James Hoey challenging all comers down at the new pool table . . . Sal Corso lamenting the fact that he had a tooth-ache when the basketball squad's picture was taken for the diocesan tournament programs . . . The Rev. Father Thomas H. Grotenrath, C. PP. S., rubbing his hands in history, civics, and religion, and asserting, "They were the best tests I ever put out!" . . . Newmanites preparing for their play on Feb. 12.
